☐ Improve collaboration between departments, distributors and local agents

Branching out into new regions and markets, to increase market share and revenue, is always an attractive proposition, but the parts industry is constantly challenged with more vehicle models and industry-specific terminology.

An efficient localisation process is essential to produce consistency in your content that will deliver a superior end-user experience and ultimately drive more sales.

Produce high quality, industry specific translations with Translator™ to deliver accurate content that's relevant to your markets

Designed specifically to manage the highly structured content of the automotive and parts replacement aftermarkets, Translator™ makes it easy to identify missing content and maintain consistency across brand language and standards, helping you optimise your globalisation efforts.

Translator links with Xchecker™ to examine your parts and application data, thus eliminating any duplication of effort. Translated content is then saved in one source of truth that can be utilised for websites, electronic & printed catalogues and product documentation.

Key Functionality

Straightforward entry of industry-specific words, phrases and reference texts

Identify and easily edit missing content and latest gaps

Measures and displays the level of content completeness across multiple languages
Simple process to set exceptions that can be applied to all data, where translations are not required
